What does the church have to offer us?

The Salvation Army church in Lavenham is a converted barn building, with original stone walling. The hall will hold up to 80 people for a wedding. The building adjoins a row of old cottages and is set back from the road, on a grassed area (the common). There are disabled facilities but no separate area for a reception.

How much will it cost to get married there?

The basic cost of a wedding is £150 includes church fees, minister's fees and pianist/organist accompaniment for hymns. The fee may be reduced for those on low incomes – please speak to the minister.

What else can the church provide for couples?

The videoing of your wedding service is welcomed but may incur an additional charge dependant on the current copyright fees – please contact us for more details.

What are the requirements or expectations for couples?

There are no residency requirements. Couples do not have to be members of the church although they should be comfortable with the Christian ethos of the service. Couples will be made very welcome if they choose to attend any of our services before their wedding, but it should be noted that attendance at our service is required for the three Sundays preceding the wedding. If you are a divorcee looking to remarry, do contact the minister as we approach every case individually. We can also arrange a blessing of a civil or overseas marriage.

Other helpful information about the church.

The minister will meet with you several times before your special day and this will be an opportunity for you to look around our church, plan the ceremony and discuss your forthcoming marriage with them.
