

Press Release

For Immediate release

Support for Roma Craft Project at Number72 in North Street.

The Family Centre at Number72 in North Street, Sudbury is the latest stockist of a new line of Roma Crafts. The wide range of goods features handbags to cushion covers and greeting cards to rugs. These hand-crafted and unique items are all produced by women from the Roma Village in Tileagd, Romania.

Known as the 'Flowers of Tileagd', the project enables these women to earn money that they can call their own. It provides an opportunity for them to discover their skills and learn new ones.

Tim Ayrton, director of the Family Centre at Number Seventy Two said "This project enables the Roma women to produce a quality product and gives them a vital income too. The opportunity to empower the women to make a real difference in their home situation is one we readily support. When people buy items from Tileagd, it brings change to the Roma women, and helps to support the work we do with local families here in Sudbury." The new products will be on sale from 10am Saturday 17th May at Number Seventy Two.

Information for the Editor: Number Seventy Two aims to provide informal easily accessed support for families and individuals from Sudbury and District. Number Seventy Two is part of The Family & Community Network, a registered charity.
